
YOUR WEALTHY UNCLE

THE 90-DAY MONEY RESET

A practical action plan to take control of your money, build better habits, and move toward your first $10K.

$0

$2K

$5K

$10K

90 DAYS. ONE SYSTEM. NO MORE "I'LL START NEXT MONTH."

This is where the plan becomes real.

The First $10K System teaches the framework. The Money Dashboard helps you track the numbers. This workbook is the execution layer: 90 days of small, concrete decisions.

The goal is not to become perfect with money. The goal is to stop guessing.

WHAT THIS RESET DOES

- Shows you what is happening with your money before you try to fix it.
- Turns payday, spending, saving, and debt into repeatable routines.
- Gives you a weekly target so you always know the next move.
- Builds toward a cash goal without pretending every month looks the same.
- Creates a system you can keep using after Day 90.

A NOTE FROM WALTER

You do not need a new personality. You need a system that makes the next good decision easier. Some weeks will be clean. Some will be messy. What matters is that you keep returning to the system.

Your 90-day commitment: What would be different if I took my money seriously for the next 90 days?

Do the work in order.

The reset is deliberately sequenced. Clarity comes before control. Control comes before acceleration.

Phase	Days	Purpose
01 — CLARITY	1–7	See the numbers without avoiding them.
02 — CONTROL	8–30	Create routines and reduce unnecessary leakage.
03 — BUILD	31–60	Strengthen savings, debt progress, and monthly surplus.
04 — ACCELERATE	61–90	Improve the system and prepare for the next 90 days.

THE 3 RULES

- Use real numbers. Estimates are fine on Day 1, but replace them with actual numbers when you can.
- Do not punish yourself for past decisions. Use them as information.
- If you miss a day, do not restart the entire plan. Continue with the next action.

WHAT YOU NEED

Your bank statements or transaction history, current balances, bills, debt details, and the Money Dashboard if you purchased it.

TIME

Most daily actions take 10–20 minutes. Weekly reviews take about 20–30 minutes.

Start date / 90-day end date

DAY 01 — KNOW YOUR NUMBERS

Write down your current cash, savings, debts, monthly take-home income, and essential monthly expenses. No fixing yet.

Item	Your number / note
Cash available
Savings
Debt balance
Take-home income
Essential monthly expenses

What surprised me today?

NEXT ACTION

- Complete today's page using actual numbers where possible.
- Move the information into your Money Dashboard if you have it.

DAY 02 — MAP YOUR INCOME

List every reliable source of money you expect during a normal month. Separate predictable income from irregular income.

Item	Your number / note
Primary income
Other reliable income
Irregular income
Pay frequency
Next payday

What I learned / what I need to verify:

NEXT ACTION

- Complete today's page using actual numbers where possible.
- Move the information into your Money Dashboard if you have it.

DAY 03 — FIXED COSTS

Identify the bills that usually arrive regardless of how much you spend elsewhere. These create your monthly baseline.

Item	Your number / note
Housing
Utilities
Transport
Insurance
Debt minimums
Other fixed bills

What I learned / what I need to verify:

NEXT ACTION

- Complete today's page using actual numbers where possible.
- Move the information into your Money Dashboard if you have it.

DAY 04 — FIND THE LEAKS

Review recent transactions and circle spending that was easy to repeat, easy to ignore, or larger than you expected.

Item	Your number / note
Three purchases I didn't plan
Subscriptions I forgot
Fees
Eating out / delivery
Impulse purchases

What surprised me today?

NEXT ACTION

- Complete today's page using actual numbers where possible.
- Move the information into your Money Dashboard if you have it.

DAY 05 — AUDIT SUBSCRIPTIONS

Open your bank/card statements and list recurring charges. Keep only what you intentionally use.

Item	Your number / note
Service
Monthly cost
Keep / Cancel / Review
Next billing date

What I learned / what I need to verify:

NEXT ACTION

- Complete today's page using actual numbers where possible.
- Move the information into your Money Dashboard if you have it.

DAY 06 — FACE YOUR DEBT

Write every debt in one place. Record balance, minimum payment, interest rate if known, and due date. The purpose is clarity.

Item	Your number / note
Debt
Balance
Minimum
Rate
Due date

What I learned / what I need to verify:

NEXT ACTION

- Complete today's page using actual numbers where possible.
- Move the information into your Money Dashboard if you have it.

DAY 07 — BUILD YOUR STARTING POINT

Turn the week into one page: income, essential costs, debt minimums, current savings, and the amount left for goals or flexible spending.

Item	Your number / note
Monthly income
Essential costs
Debt minimums
Current savings
Potential monthly surplus

What surprised me today?

NEXT ACTION

- Complete today's page using actual numbers where possible.
- Move the information into your Money Dashboard if you have it.

WEEK 01

CLARITY

Your target

Finish your baseline and stop relying on memory.

3 ACTIONS

- Record your actual balances.
- Review the last 7–14 days of transactions.
- Write your essential monthly costs.

MONEY MOVE

Use this week's target as the one money action that matters most.

ONE THING TO STOP

Guessing about your money.

What changed in my numbers?

ONE THING TO KEEP

Looking at the numbers without judgment.

What felt easier this week?

WEEKLY CHECK-IN

Question	Your answer
What number matters most right now?
What expense deserves attention first?
What is one thing I can verify this week?

Next week starts with this one decision:

WEEK 02

CONTROL

Your target

Create a payday routine that tells every dollar where to go.

3 ACTIONS

- Set your next payday plan.
- Separate essentials, goals, and flexible spending.
- Choose the amount you will save first.

MONEY MOVE

Use this week's target as the one money action that matters most.

ONE THING TO STOP

Spending before checking the plan.

What changed in my numbers?

ONE THING TO KEEP

Checking your plan before spending.

What felt easier this week?

WEEKLY CHECK-IN

Question	Your answer
Did I plan before spending?
Did I save anything on purpose?
Where did I go off-plan?

Next week starts with this one decision:

WEEK 03

CONTROL

Your target

Make your spending easier to control without making life miserable.

3 ACTIONS

- Set a weekly flexible-spending boundary.
- Pick one low-cost replacement for a recurring expense.
- Use a 24-hour pause for non-essential purchases.

MONEY MOVE

Use this week's target as the one money action that matters most.

ONE THING TO STOP

Using "I deserve it" as a budget.

What changed in my numbers?

ONE THING TO KEEP

Making room for fun without pretending it is free.

What felt easier this week?

WEEKLY CHECK-IN

Question	Your answer
What category moved the most?
What purchase was easiest to skip?
What do I still want room for?

Next week starts with this one decision:

WEEK 04

CONTROL

Your target

Close the biggest leaks you found in the first month.

3 ACTIONS

- Cancel or change one recurring cost.
- Reduce one high-frequency expense.
- Do a 20-minute money check before the week ends.

MONEY MOVE

Use this week's target as the one money action that matters most.

ONE THING TO STOP

Trying to cut everything at once.

What changed in my numbers?

ONE THING TO KEEP

Keeping the changes that actually work.

What felt easier this week?

WEEKLY CHECK-IN

Question	Your answer
How much monthly room did I create?
Which cut felt easiest?
What should stay unchanged?

Next week starts with this one decision:

WEEK 05

BUILD

Your target

Start strengthening the gap between income and spending.

3 ACTIONS

- Choose a savings target for this week.
- Move the target amount after payday.
- Record the transfer in your dashboard.

MONEY MOVE

Use this week's target as the one money action that matters most.

ONE THING TO STOP

Waiting to see what is left at month-end.

What changed in my numbers?

ONE THING TO KEEP

Saving before the money disappears.

What felt easier this week?

WEEKLY CHECK-IN

Question	Your answer
What did I save?
What made saving easier?
What would make next week easier?

Next week starts with this one decision:

WEEK 06

BUILD

Your target

Make debt visible and manageable.

3 ACTIONS

- Update every debt balance.
- Confirm minimum payments and due dates.
- Choose one debt priority using your preferred strategy.

MONEY MOVE

Use this week's target as the one money action that matters most.

ONE THING TO STOP

Adding new debt while avoiding the numbers.

What changed in my numbers?

ONE THING TO KEEP

Making the next payment intentional.

What felt easier this week?

WEEKLY CHECK-IN

Question	Your answer
Did any balance change?
What is the next debt action?
What could cause a missed payment?

Next week starts with this one decision:

WEEK 07

BUILD

Your target

Increase the monthly surplus without relying on willpower.

3 ACTIONS

- Find one expense to optimize.
- Find one realistic way to increase income.
- Direct part of the improvement toward your goal.

MONEY MOVE

Use this week's target as the one money action that matters most.

ONE THING TO STOP

Assuming the only solution is extreme cutting.

What changed in my numbers?

ONE THING TO KEEP

Treating extra income as a tool.

What felt easier this week?

WEEKLY CHECK-IN

Question	Your answer
What created the biggest improvement?
How much monthly surplus could this add?
What can I repeat?

Next week starts with this one decision:

WEEK 08

BUILD

Your target

Reach your next savings milestone with a system, not a sprint.

3 ACTIONS

- Update your $10K progress.
- Set the next milestone.
- Schedule or make the next planned saving move.

MONEY MOVE

Use this week's target as the one money action that matters most.

ONE THING TO STOP

Moving the goal because progress feels slow.

What changed in my numbers?

ONE THING TO KEEP

Measuring progress in dollars, not feelings.

What felt easier this week?

WEEKLY CHECK-IN

Question	Your answer
Current saved amount?
Next milestone?
What is the next transfer?

Next week starts with this one decision:

WEEK 09

ACCELERATE

Your target

Protect the system from lifestyle inflation.

3 ACTIONS

- Review income changes and new expenses.
- Decide where any extra income will go before spending it.
- Check recurring lifestyle upgrades.

MONEY MOVE

Use this week's target as the one money action that matters most.

ONE THING TO STOP

Letting a raise become automatic spending.

What changed in my numbers?

ONE THING TO KEEP

Giving every increase a job.

What felt easier this week?

WEEKLY CHECK-IN

Question	Your answer
What changed in my lifestyle?
What changed in my savings?
Where will future increases go?

Next week starts with this one decision:

WEEK 10

ACCELERATE

Your target

Improve one system that still creates friction.

3 ACTIONS

- Choose the most annoying money task.
- Simplify it or automate it.
- Create a reminder or recurring routine.

MONEY MOVE

Use this week's target as the one money action that matters most.

ONE THING TO STOP

Keeping a system you constantly avoid.

What changed in my numbers?

ONE THING TO KEEP

Making the right action easier.

What felt easier this week?

WEEKLY CHECK-IN

Question	Your answer
What friction did I remove?
What can now happen automatically?
What still needs a manual check?

Next week starts with this one decision:

WEEK 11

ACCELERATE

Your target

Prepare for imperfect months.

3 ACTIONS

- List likely upcoming irregular expenses.
- Create a small sinking-fund target for one of them.
- Adjust the next payday plan.

MONEY MOVE

Use this week's target as the one money action that matters most.

ONE THING TO STOP

Pretending irregular costs are surprises.

What changed in my numbers?

ONE THING TO KEEP

Planning before the bill arrives.

What felt easier this week?

WEEKLY CHECK-IN

Question	Your answer
What expense is coming?
How much do I need?
What will I change to prepare?

Next week starts with this one decision:

WEEK 12

ACCELERATE

Your target

Finish the reset with a system you can actually keep.

3 ACTIONS

- Complete your 90-day scorecard.
- Choose the 3 habits to keep.
- Write your next 90-day target.

MONEY MOVE

Use this week's target as the one money action that matters most.

ONE THING TO STOP

Throwing away the system after Day 90.

What changed in my numbers?

ONE THING TO KEEP

Keeping the routines that changed the numbers.

What felt easier this week?

WEEKLY CHECK-IN

Question	Your answer
What changed most?
What habit will I keep?
What is my next financial target?

Next week starts with this one decision:

MONTH 01 REVIEW

CLARITY → CONTROL

Do not grade yourself on perfection. Review the numbers, identify the pattern, and choose the next adjustment.

Measure	Start of month	End of month	What changed?
Cash saved
Debt balance
Monthly expenses
Monthly income
Money left after essentials

WHAT WORKED

WHAT DIDN'T

--	--

NEXT MONTH — KEEP / CHANGE / START

KEEP	CHANGE	START

One sentence I want to remember from this month:

CONTROL → BUILD

Do not grade yourself on perfection. Review the numbers, identify the pattern, and choose the next adjustment.

Measure	Start of month	End of month	What changed?
Cash saved
Debt balance
Monthly expenses
Monthly income
Money left after essentials

WHAT WORKED

WHAT DIDN'T

--	--

NEXT MONTH — KEEP / CHANGE / START

KEEP	CHANGE	START

One sentence I want to remember from this month:

BUILD → ACCELERATE

Do not grade yourself on perfection. Review the numbers, identify the pattern, and choose the next adjustment.

Measure	Start of month	End of month	What changed?
Cash saved
Debt balance
Monthly expenses
Monthly income
Money left after essentials

WHAT WORKED

WHAT DIDN'T

--	--

NEXT MONTH — KEEP / CHANGE / START

KEEP	CHANGE	START

One sentence I want to remember from this month:

Make the target measurable.

A $10K goal becomes easier to understand when you translate it into milestones. Your timeline depends on your actual monthly surplus; these are planning examples, not promises.

Monthly amount saved	Approx. time to $10K
$100	100 months
$250	40 months
$400	25 months
$500	20 months
$750	14 months
$1,000	10 months

MY MILESTONES

Milestone	Target date	Actual date	Amount
$500
$1,000
$2,000
$5,000
$7,500
$10,000

What monthly savings amount is realistic for me right now — and what would have to change to increase it?

Find the gap you can actually use.

Your monthly surplus is the amount left after the expenses and commitments you are choosing to fund. You can improve it by reducing costs, increasing income, or changing timing.

Move	Current	Target	Monthly difference
Housing
Transport
Food
Subscriptions
Debt payments
Other recurring costs
Income

ONE REDUCTION + ONE INCREASE

Reduce one recurring cost

Increase income / cash flow

--	--

If I repeat these two changes for 90 days, the approximate impact is:

SPENDING TRIGGER MAP

Fix the pattern, not just the purchase.

When an unnecessary purchase repeats, look for the moment before it. The trigger may be boredom, convenience, stress, social pressure, habit, or simply lack of a spending boundary.

Trigger / situation	What I usually buy	What I actually need	New response

THE 24-HOUR PAUSE

For a non-essential purchase, write the item down. Wait 24 hours. Then decide whether it still fits the plan. The goal is not to eliminate all discretionary spending; it is to create a gap between impulse and action.

The purchase I am most likely to impulse-buy:

What I will do instead when the trigger appears:

PAYDAY ROUTINE

Give your next paycheck a job before it arrives.

Step	Amount / action	Done
1. Income received		■
2. Essential bills reserved		■
3. Minimum debt payments reserved		■
4. Planned savings moved		■
5. Flexible spending amount set		■
6. Remaining money assigned		■

MY PAYDAY RULE

When my income arrives, the first money I assign is:

The amount I will protect for my $10K goal:

The spending category I need to watch most closely:

A routine is useful only if you can repeat it. Keep this page next to your calendar or banking routine.

90-DAY SCORECARD

Look at the evidence.

Use the numbers you recorded during the reset. The purpose of this page is to see movement and identify what should continue.

Measure	Day 1	Day 90	Change
Cash / savings
Debt balance
Monthly income
Monthly essential costs
Monthly flexible spending
Monthly surplus

MY 3 BIGGEST CHANGES

MY 3 HABITS WORTH KEEPING

The single financial decision that had the biggest positive effect:

Do not start over. Continue.

The reset ends. The system does not. Choose the few routines that actually changed your behavior and build the next cycle around them.

NEXT 90-DAY TARGET

My target:

Why this matters to me:

Habit / routine	Frequency	How I will make it easy

THE NEXT GOOD DECISION

You do not need to know exactly where you will be five years from now. You need to know what your money is doing this week.

Then make the next good decision again next week.

FROM YOUR WEALTHY UNCLE

Keep the system.

Money gets easier when you stop treating every month like a new emergency.

Know your numbers. Give your income a job. Protect your goals. Review the system. Adjust when life changes.

EDUCATIONAL NOTE

This workbook is for general educational and organizational purposes. It is not individualized financial, legal, tax, or investment advice. Your circumstances, obligations, costs, and goals are unique. Consider qualified professional advice when appropriate.

RESOURCE BASIS

The practical structure of this workbook was informed by public financial-education resources from the Consumer Financial Protection Bureau and the FDIC, including tools for tracking income and spending, building spending and saving plans, setting goals, and organizing debt. The worksheets and wording in this workbook are original.

Sources: Consumer Financial Protection Bureau, Your Money, Your Goals toolkit; FDIC, Money Smart for Adults / Young Adults. Accessed September 2026.

YOUR WEALTHY UNCLE

BUILD YOUR FIRST $10K.